The philosophy of the domain :

Our vineyards are located in the terroir of the right bank of the Garonne River and our wines are certified on Organic Agriculture. The result of our work is oriented to the authenticity and singularity of our soils.

Our objective is to produce quality in a coherent and balance system. So that is why we decided to work with ECOCERT (an independent certification body), which guarantee the transparency of the process and the proof of our efforts.

Mode of driving of the vineyard, wine-making and ageing :

I believe that organic agriculture will change this vicious circle: less dependence on chemical inputs and let nature maintains its own balance. The terroir conjoint three major components:

- Knowledge and experience: techniques, work methodology, grapevine knowledge transferred from generation to generation as well as our limits (individual and collective) are part of our experience and learning process.
- The environment: includes different factors such as climatic conditions, soil, subsoil, which provides the unique characteristics of our wines.
- The grapevine and the different varieties are chosen to grow in a space that will bring the expected quality.

The winemaking process and the working methodical approach are ongoing efforts in our vineyards. We dot use chemical products or selected yeasts. The wine fermentation is done at low temperatures, and the wine transfer (separation of the wine and sediment) is performed in anaerobic areas, allowing us to make a soft clarification.
